Re: Inquiry

I received a call on March 30, 2000 from a person (unidentified) who wanted to know whether it would pose a problem for him to secure County employment at the same time that his parents had a contract with the County to operate the card shop in the 111 Building. I advised him that as long as he did not work for the department that awarded the contract to his parents and the department he went to work for had no oversight with respect to the contract, there would be no conflict of interest.
