Subject: Ethics Questions

JNQ 04-89

Goodafternoon,

Per our conversation, I would like specific information relating to conflicts or prohibitions as it relates to County Employees participating in the process of applying for grants (CDBG).

My business partner and I are applying for the CDBG grant and I wanted to know if the fact that he is a Metro-Dade Transit employee presents a conflict?

Please include the ethic guidelines to ensure that we are well within the legal parameters. Moreover, I would like to know he would be able to participate in this process. For example, we he be allowed to include his name in the package, attend various meetings, participate in the presentation of proposals, etc.

Thank you so much for your time and consideration.

Jimmy N.

The Conflict of Interest and Code of Ethics ordinance permits your company to apply for CDBG funds. However, Section 2-11.1(m) prohibits your partner from appearing at any county meetings (including meetings with staff) regarding the application for CDBG funding. Further, your partner should not sign the application documents. Moreover, your partner should not sign the final contract or funding agreements if funding is approved. Please contact me if you have any further questions.
