Kay,

Ardyth and I discussed this matter. We see no legal conflict, although you have to deal with the appearance problem. That is, your office is involved in the regulation of lobbyists and you are charged with raising funds which puts you in the position of soliciting gifts from individuals you regulate.

I hope this helps.

Robert

Subject: Conflict of Interest Opinion

Good morning,

I serve on the board of directors for the South Florida Boys Choir, which is a replica of the Harlem's Boys Choir and a non-profit agency. I am a volunteer.

I was appointed to serve as chair of the funding raising committee. I have asked some of my acquaintances, who are registered lobbyist, would they like to make a contribution to this fund raising effort. They have said yes.

Would I have a conflict?
