Randy,

Under those circumstances, it is perfectly acceptable for you to participate.

My only question is who is paying your way?

Robert,

Identitech is a company we hired to do our electronic document management project. This will be a multi-year project for us across all county departments. The industry sponsors a major symposium each year. Identitech is asking if we would send a rep to make a talk and sit on a panel. They would like us to discuss our selection of the Identitech software for the project.

I don't see a problem. The facts will speak for themselves, but it is advertising, of a sort.

I asked the Comm Dept to review; it suggested I ask you for an opinion.

RW

They have asked me to speak also. Advertising, essentially. Need to check with Juan Mendieta. I believe we would need to be objective and not too much in the advertising business.

Are there any rules against participating on this panel that you are aware of?

Jose-

Hola! Hope all is well down in Miami. I heard you had a little bit of a cold. I hope you are feeling better.

I wish I could say this was just a friendly e-mail to say hello, but I do have an alterative motive. A few months back I mentioned that I would probably be in touch about your participation at AIIM. Well, it's that time of the year and I wanted to see if we could set up a meeting about some of the activities we would like to have you participate in with us. One being the Doculbas panels and the other being a customer presentation on why FYI met the required goals for your e-Gov project. Basically we want to the drive home The Power of One message.

Please let me know when would be a convenient time to discuss.

Thanks & Cuidate!!!!
