I received a telephone call on February 18, 2011 from the PIO in the Property Appraiser's Office. I was advised that the Property Appraiser announced the previous day that he will be running for re-election in 2012. The PIO wanted to know whether it was an appropriate use of County resources to issue a press release announcing the Property Appraiser's decision. I advised him that County resources should not be used for this purpose, as the decision to seek re-election is not County business.
