Mr. Fenton,

Thank you for your inquiry. It isn't my intent to be difficult but typically only the person who believes he or she has a conflict has the right to ask us for an opinion. Thus, George Burgess would be the one who should ask about his conduct, but the Commissioner can certainly encourage him to ask for an opinion. Finally, I am not sure I understand what you mean when you state he is a principal for Habitat for Humanity, because as far as I know, it is a non-profit agency.

If you wish to discuss the above in more detail, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Robert Meyers

Mr. Meyers:

Reference Item 7F1A in the March 1, 2005 BCC agenda

Doesn't the fact that George Burgess is a "principal" for Habitat for Humanity, as listed in the item, disqualify Habitat for Humanity from dealing with the county? Please explain.

Or is this a different George Burgess?

Thank you.

Best wishes.

Michael Fenton

Mr. Ginsburg said the Commissioner does not have a conflict. In answer to your second question, you would need to contact Robert Meyers, Commis on Ethics.
