Ms. James,

I don't see a problem with you promoting your book; however, this should be done on your own time. In other words, you should take leave for the time you are spending at Gospelfest promoting your book.

Mr. Meyers,

"Gospelfest" will be held in the Stephen P. Clark Center, Wednesday 22, 2006 from 11:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Since I am a County Employee, would it be a conflict interest to promote my book? However, I am no longer interested in participating, but your opinion would be appreciated for the future.

I apologize for not making myself clear, and I thank you again for your prompt reply.

Ruby James

Ms. James,

I'm not sure I understand your question. What do you mean that you will be a vendor in the event? What event are you referring to and exactly will you be doing there?
 Once you provide me with more information, I can give you an opinion.

Thanks,

Robert Meyers

Mr. Meyers,

My name is Ruby James and I work for Miami-Dade County Public Works Department as a Title Analyst. I have published my first book, and would like to know your legal opinion if it would be a conflict of interest to be a vendor in the event that is schedule for Wednesday in the Lobby? You were referred to me by Kay Sullivan.

Thank you for your reply.

Sincerely,

Ruby James
