Hello All: Gerald discussed this with me last week, and feels, as I do, that "any" communication relating to the particular RFP, RFQ or bid is governed by the Cone. Oral exchange would be prohibited, unless one of the exceptions apply. Everyone agree? Thanks, TED

Good morning Gerald. It would seem to me that "any" means any communication about a particular RFP, RFQ or bid, including funding questions with BCC members or staff, while the Cone is in effect, but for any exception to the Cone that may apply. One of the exceptions, of course, are written communications. But, what do you think? I'd like to run this by you for your legal opinion. Thanks, TED

I find the Prohibition regarding "any oral communication regarding a particular RFP or RFQ" to be vague. We have projects that may have been advertised for design consultant selections, and we may need to discuss construction funding or other issues related to the specific project with BCC members or staff. Is this prohibited under the cone of silence?
