Penny:

My first reaction is to find out from you the perceived benefits of having business cards printed for this purpose. My inclination is to conclude that if the County believes its board members should have business cards, then the County ought to pay for them. Otherwise, I would be opposed to board members purchasing business cards out of personal funds. In principle, I don't object to the concept of County board members having some form of identification showing they have some connection to Miami-Dade County government; however, there would have to be strict guidelines on the manner in which these business cards could be used by board members.

If you wish to discuss in greater detail, please do not hesitate to contact me at your convenience.

Thanks,

Robert

Robert:

Members of the Small Business Advisory Board have asked whether they may have business cards printed (personally purchased) representing themselves as MDC advisory board members utilizing the County's logo.

Please advise. Let me know if you need additional information.

Thanks
